Join NAEYC staff for a full-day workshop designed for mentors, coaches, consultants, and facilitators who plan to provide guidance and assistance to early care and education programs pursuing NAEYC Accreditation of Programs for Young Children. Over the course of the day, we will:

- Outline the 4 Steps of the NAEYC Accreditation process
- Clarify the role of Self-Study as a path to quality improvement
- Demonstrate key elements of the Site Visit from an assessment perspective including strategies for reliable assessments
- Share examples of portfolio evidence and the types of tools used on actual Site Visits
- Highlight similarities and differences between NAEYC Accreditation and the Environment Rating Scales
- Clarify common misconceptions of the NAEYC Accreditation process
- Share updates from the NAEYC Academy on upcoming system improvements
- Identify resources available to support the NAEYC Accreditation process

DISCLAIMER: This workshop is designed for mentors, coaches, consultants, and facilitators who plan to provide assistance to a program pursuing NAEYC Accreditation of Programs for Young Children. This workshop is NOT designed for program administrators seeking more information on the NAEYC Accreditation process. This workshop does NOT prepare an individual to become an NAEYC Assessor. This workshop does NOT address NAEYC's Early Childhood Associate Degree Accreditation process.
